ABSTRACT

Comprehensive information about instructional locations away from the main campuses of the State University of New York is presented. Five statistical tables pertaining to fall 1979 data are included: (1) summary information on the 348 locations; (2) detailed information by institution on the locations; (3) instructional locations away from the main campus offering complete academic programs and information on program offerings and some of the characteristics of the location; (4) locations not offering a complete academic program but offering a minimum of 16 courses or having a minimum of 351 registrations; and (5) locations not offering a complete academic program but offering a minimum of eight courses or having a minimum of 176 registrations. A summary of the data indicates that of the 348 instructional locations away from the main campus, 155 (44.5 percent) were reported by state-operated/funded institutions, while 193 (55.5 percent) were reported by the community colleges. Information is presented on the age of the locations, faculty members, distance of the instructional locations from the main campus, reasons for establishing the locations, and student characteristics. A bibliography is included. (SW)

INTRODUCTION

This is the first report prepared by the Central Staff Office of Institutional Research and Analytical Studies which provides comprehensive information about instructional locations away from the main campuses of the State University of New York.

The publication of this report could not have been accomplished without the full cooperation of the individual institutional respondents. We appreciate the cooperation and effort that went into providing these data. We would also like to thank our statistical and typing staffs whose efforts made this report possible. A particular expression of gratitude is extended to Mrs. Doreen DeCrescenzo of our staff who typed all the tables contained in this report.

There are five tables contained in this report. All tables pertain to Fall 1979 data. Table I presents summary information on the 348 locations that were reported. Table II presents detail information by institution on the locations.

Table III indicates those Instructional Locations Away from the Main Campus offering completing academic programs and presents information on the programs offered and some of the characteristics of the location.

Table IV presents those locations not offering a complete academic program but offering a minimum of 16 courses or having a minimum of 351 registrations.

Table V indicates those locations not offering a complete academic program but offering a minimum of 8 courses or having a minimum of 176 registrations.

SUMMARY OF DATA

This is the first report presenting the results of the Office of Institutional Research and Analytical Studies' system-wide survey of Instructional Locations Away from the Main Campus.

Data for this report were collected in the Spring of 1980 on a survey designed and administered by this office. For the purposes of this survey, all locations away from the main campus at which credit courses were offered were included. These locations may have been established (a) for the convenience of students attending to facilitate their access to the instructional services of the college, (b) because of the nature of the academic program pursued, (c) due to an agreement with the Sponsoring County of a Community College or (d) some other impelling reason which is specified.

Examination of the data contained in this report, especially Tables I and II, indicate that in Fall 1979 there were 348 instructional locations away from the main campus reported by State University of New York institutions. Of this number, 155 (or 44.5%) locations were reported by State-operated/funded institutions while 193 (or 55.5%) locations were reported by the Community Colleges. There were 38,216 registrations in 2167 courses during the Fall 1979 term. This registration statistic is not an unduplicated headcount, instead it is a total of all the registrations in all courses at these locations.

Forty-one percent of these locations are at least four years old. Thirty-nine locations are over 10 years old while seven of these locations are over 20 years old. These mature locations comprise the bulk of our instructional activities away from the main campus locations. Seventy-three percent of all registrations (27,847) and all courses (1,576) are reported at these mature locations.

Of the 2083 faculty members teaching at all locations, 1381 faculty members or 66% are otherwise employed at the main campus, thirty-two percent as full-time faculty and thirty-four percent as part-time faculty members. Another 3% of the faculty come from other colleges and an additional 31% come from the community at large. Among the latter, for example, are nationally known labor studies leaders, local businessmen, and other highly skilled experts.

Although there are examples of instructional locations which are quite distant from the main campus, the great majority of the locations reported (85%) are within commuting distance of the main campus and a majority of the cases of the very distant locations (over 100 miles) are examples of instances in which the particular location was necessitated by the nature of the academic program being offered.

An examination of the data for reasons for establishing an instructional location away from the main campus reveals that 14% indicated that the locations was programmatically necessitated due to the nature of the academic program being offered. Seventy-eight percent indicated convenience for students, 2%, all Community College locations, were established at the request of the sponsoring counties and 6% were established for other reasons. Some of the reasons cited among this last category include; sites requested by the United States Air Force, historical gifts of land to be used for this specific purpose and sites requested by correctional facilities for inmate education programs.

Of particular interest is the extent to which these off-campus locations are really part of the fabric of the community college system of the State. A majority of the locations, 193 or 56% are community college locations. Of the 38,216 registrations reported, 21,892 or 57% are reported by Community College locations. Of the 2167 courses offered, 1234 or 57% are offered by Community Colleges. And, 98% of the 193 locations reported by community colleges are located within 50 miles of the main instructional location of the institution. Indeed, it can be said that these statistics are evidence of these colleges fulfilling their mission as community institutions. They are serving the citizens of their sponsoring location whose tax money supports their operation.

The academic programs whose requirements can be met in part or in whole by the courses offered at these instructional locations vary from location to location. Of the 348 locations included in this study, 216 or 62% offer courses for majors in specific academic programs while 132 or 38% of the locations offer courses that are not specifically designed for majors and are classified as "general education" courses.

Reporting institutions indicate that 200 or 57% of the 348 locations serve special clientele groups such as: government or public service personnel, educators, special interest groups, military personnel, prisoners or others as indicated. Some of these locations also serve the general public and these locations are noted. One hundred and forty-eight locations or 43% serve students of the general public. General public in this study has been designated as those students not defined by the special clientele listed on the survey.

Of the 348 locations reported, only 42 offer one or more complete academic programs at the off-campus locations. Of these 42 locations, 11 are affiliated by the New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations, a statutory college at Cornell, and 10 locations are at correctional facilities. Table III of this report presents information on these locations, the programs offered and some of the characteristics of the locations.

The instructional locations away from the main campus included in this report are serving well the people of the State of New York. These locations are helping to fulfill the basic education missions of these institutions of the State University of New York. They have done so for many years and have served many thousands of students.

DEFINITIONS OF TERMS

Academic programs whose requirements can be met in part or in whole by these courses	- Listing of approved academic programs and awards whose requirement can be met in part or in whole by courses taught at a specific location. Listing is taken from "State University of New York Official Academic Program Inventory".
Clientele served	- A listing by code (see footnote specifics) of special clientele or general public clientele.
Complete program or academic program whose total requirements can be met at this center	- As indicated by each institution - a listing of approved academic programs and awards whose total requirements can be met by courses offered at this location over a period of time.
Continuity of operation	- Indication of whether operation of this center has been continuous or intermittent.
Credit course instruction	- Information on total number of courses taught in Fall 1979 and [illegible] undergraduate, graduate, first-professional.
Faculty, number and status	- Total number of faculty teaching at this location during Fall 1979 term and information on whether these faculty are otherwise: (a) employed at the main campus full-time or part-time, (b) employed at another college, or (c) not employed by another college.
Instructional locations away from the main campus	- Refers to a site other than the principal instructional center of an institution at which courses are offered. Instructional activities which take the student away from the principal location of the institution for field experience such as student teaching, field trips, practicums, etc. are not included.

Miles from main campus - Total number of miles away from main campus is indicated for each instructional location.

On-site administrator - Indication for each location of the presence of an on-site administrator of the location.

Reason for location - Reasons for establishing this location include:

(a) for the convenience of students
(b) because of the nature of the academic program pursued or
(c) due to an agreement with the sponsoring county of a Community College.

Registrations in credit courses - This is the total number of credit registrations for the Fall 1979 academic term. This may be a duplicated count.

Years of operation - The number of years this particular instructional location has been in operation.

FOOTNOTES

[a]Excluding Empire State College.

[b]Reason for Location - Due to space limitations on this table, reasons for establishing instructional locations away from the main campus are indicated as follows:

Prog. - Programmatically Necessitated - Location was established away from the main campus due to the particular nature of the academic program being pursued.

Conv. - Convenience of Students - Location was established away from the main campus for the convenience of the students attending to facilitate their access to the instructional services of the college.

Spon. Co. - Location provided by Sponsor County - For Community Colleges only, the location was established away from the main campus because one of the Sponsoring Counties of the college provided the location.

[c]Continuity of Operation - Due to limitation of space on this table, for locations in operation longer than one year the continuity of the operation is indicated as follows:

Cont. - Continuous Operation - Regular operation - each or nearly each academic term.

Intm. - Intermittent Operation - Sporadic operation due to need as expressed by the prospective clientele.

[d]Clientele Served - This section indicated the student clientele whose educational interests are served at the location.

Gen. Pub. - General Public - Student clientele not defined by the special listed below.

Spec. - Special Clientele - Clientele who attend this location because a special instructional activity has been designed at this location especially for them. On this table these clientele are coded as follows:

Code Number	Special Clientele
10	Employees of Specific Business & Industry
11	Government/Public Service Personnel
12	Educators
13	Special Interest Groups
14	Specific Professions & Vocations (e.g. law, nursing, accouting)
15	Service organizations
16	Military personnel
17	Prisoners or other institutional inmates
18	High School students
19	Other - Each is specified

[a]Excluding Empire State College.

[b]Reason for Location - Due to space limitations on this table, reasons for establishing instructional locations away from the main campus are indicated as follows:

Prog. - Programmatically Necessitated - Location was established away from the main campus due to the particular nature of the academic program being pursued.

Conv. - Convenience of Students - Location was established away from the main campus for the convenience of the students attending to facilitate their access to the instructional services of the college.

Spon. Co. - Location provided by Sponsor County - For Community Colleges only: the location was established away from the main campus because one of the Sponsoring Counties of the college provided the location.

[c]Continuity of Operation - Due to limitation of space on this table, for locations in operation longer than one year the continuity of the operation is indicated as follows:

Cont. - Continuous Operation - Regular operation - each or nearly each academic term.

Intm. - Intermittent Operation - Sporadic operation due to need as expressed by the prospective clientele.

Gen. Pub. - General Public - Student clientele not defined by the special listed below.

Spec. - Special Clientele - Clientele who attend this location because a special instructional activity has been designed at this location especially for them. On this table these clientele are coded as follows:

Code Number	Special Clientele
10	Employees of Specific Business & Industry
11	Government/Public Service Personnel
12	Educators
13	Special Interest Groups
14	Specific Professions & Vocations (e.g. law, nursing, accouting)
15	Service organizations
